COLUMBIA BANK TO RETURN TO W. L. NORTON'S CONTROL

FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS TO SECURE INSTITUTION. H. H. SMOCK, VICE PRESIDENT, RETIRE—GOVERNOR SAYS GUARANTY LAW IS PROVEN A SUCCESS.

From Oklahoman.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 1.—Oklahoma's first big financial problem has been solved. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon there were no further depositors in the lobby who wanted money, and soon afterward the bank was closed by the state officials for the day.

Thanks to the operation of the guaranty bank law, the Columbia Bank and Trust company's institution will be returned to its stockholders and officers with its business hardly impaired and its stability guaranteed by the banking board and the banking commissioners of the state of Oklahoma.

Last evening Governor Haskell gave The Daily Oklahoman the following statement:

"The Oklahoma banking law is a complete success, even against the persistent opposition of a strong element of other classes of bankers. We adjust the affairs of an embarrassed state bank with perfect ease in a very few days, and with no public clamor whatever. Everybody is in good humor and conditions are normal. Depositors' money was not tied up a single hour. Other state banks are quiet and gaining in deposits.

"We are proud of the state of Oklahoma. The frantic criticisms of the opposition do not worry us—they will know better in time.

"The national plan of handling an embarrassed bank is barbarism and embarrasses the whole community. The Oklahoma plan does not occasion disturbance nor embarrass other business.

"The new bank, in a few days, will be better and stronger than ever."

What Woods Thinks.

Yesterday afternoon Governor Haskell received the following telegram from Kansas City, and it pleased the governor and his colleagues very much:

"Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 30, 1909.

"Governor C. N. Haskell, Oklahoma City, Okla.

"Just home. Glad to see you handling situation so well. You are all right. Principle of guaranteeing deposits is all right. No occasion in the world for any alarm, but to the contrary, this melee should and will, under your management, terminate much good to you personally and to the law. You and the law have our confidence and best wishes. Please command us if needed. Don't look anywhere else for any assistance needed. We are able and willing to furnish all the money needed.

"Dr. W. S. Woods."

Dr. Woods is well known to the business men of the southwest as a multimillionaire, a conservative banker, and the head of the largest bank-

H. WOODARD NOT GUILTY

THE WELL KNOWN CASE AGAINST PROMINENT CITIZEN AT AN END.

JURY NOT OUT LONG

Pathetic Scene When the Old Man Rose to Thank the Court, Counsel and Jury.

At 10:30 the Woodard case which was given to the jury less than two hours before came to a close. The jury appeared and a crowded court room were listening eagerly for the words which were to determine the fate of Henry Woodard, charged with the murder of Gus Pool on the streets of Ada, nearly four years ago.

"We, the jury in the case of the State of Oklahoma vs. H. Woodard, find the defendant not guilty as charged."

Thus the verdict read and the defendant was visibly affected. His faithful wife was overcome with joy and affectionately embraced the companion who had just had an awful burden lifted from his life. The old man with tears streaming down his cheeks very feelingly thanked the court, his counsel and the jury for their conduct and deliberations. Grasping the hand of the youthful judge who presided during the trial, he told him that he had been a good judge and that he hoped to meet him some day before the great and all-wise Judge in Heaven.

To avoid any disturbance or demonstration upon the reading of the verdict, the judge admonished those present to desist in such conduct.

Seemingly the decision did not surprise the general public judging from outside appearance.

The defendant, through an able counsel, put up a hard fight for his freedom. They succeeded in showing that Woodard was being attacked by the deceased and that deceased had a knife in his hand when attacking defendant. Consequently the defense based their fight mainly upon the principle of self defense.

In the argument, County Attorney Wimbish opened with a 30 minutes speech, and was followed by Judge McKeel who opened for the defense in a plea of 45 minutes duration. Bolen followed with a fifty minute speech for the defendant, and he by W. I. Cruce who closed for the defendant in an address lasting one hour.

Robt. Wimbish then closed the case for the state. The case was given to the jury at 9 a. m.

The Woodard family returned to their home in Konawa this afternoon.

PATTON IS A BIG BULL.

Expects to Make Big Money on Cotton as He Did on Wheat.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—James A. Patton is a bull on cotton, and is so firmly convinced that his stand will be vindicated before another cotton crop is harvested that he stands to win or lose "big money" on his judgment. Incidentally, Mr. Patton is indignant over reports that he cleaned up $2,800,000 by pulling lambs wool and cotton batting over the eyes of the bulls and bears of Wall street. Mr. Patton made a positive statement today:

"I am a bull on cotton now, as I was in wheat a year ago, on a demand and supply basis," he declared. "I believe there will be great scarcity of cotton before another crop is produced. I am long a line of cotton on this theory. If I am wrong it will cost me big money, but I think I am right."

SHAWNEE THIEF.

Who Happened to Be Chief of Police Convicted of Bribery and Will Be Sentenced Saturday.

Shawnee, Ok., Sept. 30.—Former Chief of Police W. F. Sims was today convicted of accepting bribes, the jury returning a verdict of guilty. He will be sentenced by Judge Russell tomorrow.

J. R. Thompson has moved to the Sanders property on South Broadway.

COOK POLE HERO WILL SEND SHIP TO FROZEN NORTH

ARCTIC EXPLORER WANTS INSTRUMENTS AND RECORDS LEFT BY WHITNEY.

MT. MCKINLEY INVESTIGATION

Dr. Cook Willing to Help Explorers' Club in Inquiry Regarding His Ascent of Mountain.

New York, Sept. 30.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook is quietly making arrangements to send a ship to the Arctic at his own expense to bring back from Utah the records and instruments which were left there in the rocks by Hary Whitney after Commander Peary had refused to permit them to be brought aboard the Roosevelt.

Dr. Cook said today that since the development of the situation with regard to the instruments that efforts had been made to send three different vessels to Etah at once, but that they had been unsuccessful. The season was now so far advanced that it would be impossible, on account of ice and gathering darkness, to get any craft to Etah and out again before the seas would be choked with floes.

As to the details of the expedition Dr. Cook has not yet decided.

Dr. Cook has not yet received any official notice from the Explorers' Club, of which Commander Peary is the president, concerning the investigation of his record as the climber of Mount McKinley. Prof. Marshall H. Saville, the acting president of the club said today:

"I believe the contention is that Dr. Cook could not have climbed the mountain in the place which he says that he did.

"We shall first ask the doctor for further proofs of his ascent, and if these are not satisfactory we shall send a committee to climb the mountain at the point where the Brooklyn explorer says he performed the feat, and compare the conditions with the descriptions given by Dr. Cook."

Dr. Cook said today he was willing to co-operate to any extent with the Explorers' Club in its investigations.

About Cook's Mountain Climb.

New York, Sept. 30.—By a vote of five to three the directors of the explorers' Club ordered an inquiry last night into Dr. Cook's assertion that he ascended Mount McKinley in 1906.

The directors are said to have obtained information concerning the expedition which has not hitherto been made public.

Commander Peary is president of the Explorers' Club and Dr. Cook a former president. It is understood that in deciding to look up the matter of Dr. Cook's ascent of Mount McKinley, the club decided to call off a banquet which had been planned in Dr. Cook's honor.

ALMOST SERIOUS.

Fire Breaks Out at the Round Bale Gin.

The fire alarm sounded at 5 p. m. Thursday and it was discovered that the round bale gin was ablaze. Effective work was done by men and buckets before the city wagon arrived, but the flames were beyond the subjection of anything less than the city hose. Soon after the fire boys got in operation, the flames were extinguished.

Cotton is up today, over yesterday about 14 points, and the average price plays around 13 cents.

Elberta Hubbard strikes a popular key when he inaugurates a campaign for cleaner groceries. The grocery is the place where the people purchase viands for the table, and health depends much upon what is eaten.
Comparatively few groceries are kept in a cleanly, sanitary condition. It is true that the nature of the business is such that a grocery is not expected to be as clean as other mercantile establishments, but this fact renders it necessary that the grocerymen should make greater efforts toward cleanliness in his place of business.
Generally, too, one may purchase groceries at the lowest prices where there is most filth and the surroundings are unsanitary.

"We all eat," says Elbert Hubbard,
"and the amount of sickness caused by unwholesome foods cannot be calculated."

Accepting this assertion as true, should not more attention be given to purchasing food supplies where conditions are the most sanitary and cleanly?—Oklahoman.

UNPRINTABLE HAPPENINGS.

The impulse to write things that should not be written is one of the most fearsome problems in the newspaper business. Murders, hangings, hotel building, tea parties, fights, industrial deals—these and a lot of other matters that are told in the open are chronicled as a matter of course, but the newspaper man pauses trembling, before the things that happen and yet are discussed in a whisper.

These are the subjects that you lower your voice to speak of, and you know that if what you were saying were overheard by a certain person you might get your head cracked. Not that you are alone in your knowledge—oh, no. You are quite sure that a lot of men and half the women in town are telling the rest of the population the same sensational story that is related in your undertone.

Talk of this kind might make a lurid, scare-head story. But, usually, it cannot be touched even with a single guarded sentence. Here enters the possible temptation of the newspaper man. The writer has heard in the club or hotels or elsewhere talk on matters that made his hair bristle with excitement, and then he has had to come here and write that the chamber of commerce had postponed its meetings to some other night or that Col. Willie Phifer had spent yesterday at Stout-on-the-Seaboard. He didn't crave to publish scandal or risqué gossip, but he knew a thing or two that would interest everybody, and he had to tell a tale that might interest nobody.

The unprintable happenings would be read by the world, no matter if the world's eyes protruded in horror, and nobody knows this any better than a newspaper man. Sometimes the danger line between the questionable and the unquestionable is not clearly defined, and in the hurry of a print shop there must occasionally come an inclination to err in favor of sensation. The writer is positive that he could get out one issue of this paper that would be read and re-read by everybody in the country, but he would never assist in getting out another issue.
He'd be killed by a dozen or so different people, though all that he had written would have been true.

Of course this would be going the limit, but this side of that there are all sorts of pitfalls and dangers. The public, you know, thinks that a man on a newspaper is valued because he knows what to write, but the truth is,
he holds his job because he ordinarily knows what not to write.—Idle ing institution in Kansas City. Many other similar telegrams were received during the day, and all were answered with thanks and the assurance that assistance is not needed, as there is no withdrawal of funds from any other banks, and only a few of the total number of depositors in the Columbia have asked for cancellation of their accounts.

State Treasurer Menefee, who was supervising operations in the bank yesterday, complained naively that business was "not as brisk as expected. We hope it may pick up tomorrow, when out of town depositors come in for the fair."

Conditions Unprecedented.

Never before has a big financial institution suspended with so little excitement. It is an actual fact that a dog fight on the streets creates twice the public confusion that this suspension did. The usual description of excited, tearful, maddened crowds at the doors of a national bank that has failed could not be used here.
School teachers and clerks who had small accounts in the Columbia came down town, took a look, read the morning paper and went back home or to work. There was neither a panic nor a run, and it looks as though the embarrassment of a bank in the future will only create passing interest as to who the state officer in charge will be, and how soon the bank is likely to be returned to its owners rehabilitated.

The operation of the state's guaranty of all deposits in this case has been miraculous. There is no precedent for it.

Columbia to Resume.

On Monday, according to present plans the Columbia will be returned to the management of President W.
L. Norton and his colleagues. A few changes will be made in the directorate and officers. It is understood that H. H. Smock, vice president will be superseded, possibly by I. M. Putnam.

The bank officers are ready to put up any amount of money required by the state authorities to guarantee the bank's stability. The sum of $215,000 would ordinarily be sufficient for this purpose in the condition the bank's finances now are, but the governor and his colleagues will make assurance doubly sure by nearly doubling this, and the amount of actual cash that will be placed in the bank's coffers before the state relinquishes control will be $400,000 unless a slight reduction is made since it has been found that some paper which was considered slow or doubtful is good.

Norton Has Support.

A delegation of Bartlesville citizens headed by S. J. Smallwood, arrived here yesterday and tendered President Norton their financial aid. Until recently Norton did a large business in Bartlesville and his credit there is first class, says his erstwhile business associates.

A delegation of Wisconsin legislators which arrived here on Monday is somewhat dazed by the rapid operation of the banking law which they came here to investigate. They are a little suspicious that the suspension of the Columbia was arranged as an ocular demonstration of the working of the law for their express benefit.

The Faries Feast.

The lady members of the faculty of the East Central Normal, were delightfully entertained with a Harvest Moon Luncheon Wednesday afternoon by Mesdames Barton, Hodge and Misses Thompson and Edmiston.

The main features of the entertainments were visiting the petrified the bugle call was sounded by a Pixie—in the colors of the Normal black and old gold—who summoned the guests to the Faries Feast.

ATTITUDE OF BRYAN REGARDING DEBATE

LETTER TO HOWELL OF ATLANTA EXPLAINS REASON FOR REFUSAL.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 30.—In explanation of his position on the proposed debate with Senator Bailey of Texas at Atlanta, Ga., William J. Bryan today addressed a letter to Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution. The letter follows: "I wired you last night that I would communicate to you by letter my reasons for believing a debate inadvisable. When a joint meeting was suggested at El Paso, Tex., I replied to the effect that I am trying to aid in the election of a democratic majority in the next congress; that to that end I have suggested a brief, but specific tariff plank which I ask democratic candidates to accept, reject or amend, and that, believing a debate would tend to turn attention from the issue to individuals, I would not consider the proposition unless it came as personal request. "I may add the following further reason that a debate between two democrats would accentuate the tariff differences that have embarrassed our party in congress, and give the republican newspapers a chance to dwell upon democratic dissensions instead of devoting their time to the contest now being waged between the progressive republicans and the standpatters. "A debate might be pleasing to the participants and entering to the audience, but I think that the subject I am endeavoring to present is worthy of calm and serious consideration. Very truly yours,

"WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN." BAILEY EXPRESSES REGRET. Gainesville, Tex., Sept. 30.—Senator Bailey expressed regret today when he was notified that Mr. Bryan had again refused to discuss the free raw material question jointly with him, which debate his friends and those of Mr. Bryan had hoped to have in Atlanta, Ga., at an early date. Mr. Bailey did not challenge the Nebraskaan for a joint discussion, but accepted the invitation to meet him, that the question of free raw material might be better understood and studied by the masses of Southern democrats. Senator Bailey will go to Fort Worth tomorrow, where on tomorrow night he will answer the speech of Mr. Bryan at El Paso Monday night, and will then go direct to Washington. He will likely be out of the state for several weeks.

TAFT ENDORSES SHIP SUBSIDY PLAN

PRESIDENT IN HIS SEATTLE SPEECH STATES THAT HE WILL RECOMMEND THAT CONGRESS TAKE ACTION.

Crowd Does Not Applaud When Executive Opposes Territorial Form of Government for Alaska.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 30.—Speaking before the largest audience he has faced since his trip began—a crowd that overflowed the Natural Amphitheater of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition with its seating capacity of nearly 20,000—President Taft today announced that he would urge in his coming message to congress the enactment of a ship subsidy law.

Mr. Taft declared that the country was ready to make such experiment and that something must be done to build up an American merchant marine. His utterances on this subject were received with great acclaim.

Taft's Alaskan Policy.

When the president turned to Alaska, however, and declared that he was opposed to granting a Territorial form of government to that far-off possession, his statement was received in silence. After that the president proceeded, however, to outline his policy for the upbuilding of Alaska, of recommending government aid in the construction of the railroads, of a local government by a commission of five or more members appointed by the president and co-operating with the governor, and when he told of the great possibilities that lie in Alaska, he plainly caught the favor of his hearers and was loudly cheered.

Becomes Arctic Brother.

Later in the day, when he was admitted to membership in the Arctic Brotherhood, an international organization made up of Canadians and Americans interested in the development of Alaska, the President announced that he intended to visit Alaska next summer and go as far into the Territory as time would permit in order that he might come in contact with the people and see for himself what might best be done for their welfare.

The president frankly told the members of the brotherhood that he did not believe Alaska at this time is ready for entire self-government.

Discusses Ship Subsidy.

In discussing ship subsidy, President Taft declared that if a war should come at this time the United States would not have enough vessels to carry coal to its fleets. And it would be doubtful under the neutrality laws, he added, if the United States would be able to buy foreign vessels in the emergency.

The president had an interesting and busy day, which ended tonight with a banquet in the Washington Building on the exposition grounds.

At the Arctic Brotherhood the President was elected honorary past grand Arctic chief and was presented with a costly robe of office, made of purple velvet and trimmed with furs. The brotherhood did not presume to ask the president to don the robes, but he insisted with the laughing remark:

"I am not afraid to put on the robes of office—I never have been."

The only opening in the robe was at the neck, and after it had been put over the president's head, things seemed to get into a tangle and the president was lost to view for two or three minutes.

Refuses Hawaiian Wreath.

The president had a varied and interesting day at the fair. At the door of the Hawaiian building a native girl tried to throw over the president's neck a lei, or wreath of panies. The president restrained her, saying:

"No, I shan't wear it. We're not in Honolulu now."

The Canadian building was to have ended the president's tour, but he said, "I want to see more of this." Luncheon in the New York building was served without speeches.

LAND TITLES INVOLVED.

Muskogee, Ok., Sept. 30.—Many of those who own the so-called "dead claims" bought through some probate court in Oklahoma in the old Indian Territory are finding that while they have deeds to the property the title is not good. According to Attorney General Wickham's opinion, inherited full-blood lands purchased through the Probate Courts where the allottee died prior to May 27, 1908, must have the approval of the secretary of the interior regardless of the Probate Courts, to make the conveyance valid.

About 75 per cent of the allottees of such lands died prior to the date mentioned and the lands were snapped up by land buyers. There are thousands of lands of this nature in the former holdings of the Five Tribes and at the time that the deeds were taken all parties concerned thought the transaction strictly valid in law.

OKLAHOMA EDITORS AT STATE FAIR

GUESTS OF OKLAHOMA CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—GOOD TIME OCCASION ALL DAY.

There Will Be a Banquet Spread this Evening—(Col. Roy Stafford Chief Ring Master.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 1.—Nearly 100 editors from over the state are guests today of the Oklahoma City Press and Ad Clubs. A trolley ride over the city, a visit to the state fair and a banquet tonight will be the principal features of the entertainment.

The editors assembled at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 9:15, where they were asked to register their names, receive badges and credentials to appointed places of entertainment.

The visiting delegation accompanied by the joint press club, advertising club and chamber of commerce committee then boarded a special electric train at 9:45 a. m., corner of Harvey and Grand avenue, for a sightseeing tour which consumed the entire morning.

At noon the party drew up at the state fair grounds for lunch and during the afternoon the scribes will be left to enjoy themselves in their own way at the fair grounds.

The party will re-assemble at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 6 o'clock sharp for dinner, followed by informal talks from visiting editors.

Following the speeches the editors will see the production at the new colonial theater.

MOVING CITY OF ENCHANTMENT.

The Well-Deserved Title of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows.

Never in the annals of circus history has such a pretentious and original amusement enterprise ever been projected as the augmented Hagenbeck-Wallace shows, which exhibit here Tuesday, Oct. 5th. In their present enlarged size, including three-ring circus, trained wild animal show European exhibitions and Oriental exposition features, this big amusement enterprise is popularly called "The Moving City of Enchantment," a title well earned and one that will cling to it for years to come.

The best features of the circus, as it is generally known, have been retained, but there is so much else that is novel that the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, as now presented, demand recognition as an amusement institution without prototype in the tented field. Under the biggest tents ever constructed there will be presented three complete and distinctive shows blended into a gigantic and harmonious whole. The services of one thousand people, four hundred horses and the rarest gathering of animals ever seen in one collection are necessary for the pageants and performances given, including a modern and new three ring circus, a trained wild animal show, a European novelty exhibition and a strikingly interesting East Indian exposition.

Three hundred arenic champions of every class participate in the circus programs. They have been recruited in the main from continental circuses and the majority of them are now making their first American appearance. This introduction of new faces and new acts will undoubtedly be of interest to the public that have become wearied by constant repetition of the same program year after year. Three rings, two elevated stages, a quarter mile track, and a forest of overhead rigging are required for the feats and exploits of companies of aerialists presenting a mid-air circus; individual riders and duos, trios and troupes of equestrians in splendid and diversified feats of horsemanship; forty clowns in hilarious antics; two score of leapers, somersaulters and tumblers in international contests; several companies of high wire performers; gymnasts, acrobats and contortionists; dancing divertissement and ballets; beautiful and inspiring tournaments; thrilling races and numerous acts, so unlike anything hitherto presented that they are designated as features. The trained wild beast performances will be given in large steel girt arenas and intermingled with the circus acts in such a manner as to give pleasing novelty to the program. The menagerie is the rarest that the Hagenbeck-Wallace agents could secure in their world-wide search. The parade of the morning with its scores of open animal cages and marvelous glories, present unheard of splendors, and is but the prelude of the sublime ecstasy of a visit to the shows.

An Englishman was once rallying a native of India upon his faculty in lying. The native at once replied: "Why, sahib, we are all more or less liars in my country, and if one tells a story another immediately caps it. There were two young men of my country who had a boasting match, and one said, 'My father is so rich and has so many horses that his stable is of such extent as to take a horse 11 months to go from one end stall to the other.' 'Shabash, brother,' replied the second boaster, 'that is very good. My father has a bamboo so long that he can sweep the clouds away with it when they obscure the sun in harvest time. 'Hi hi!' exclaimed the first. 'That is very wonderful; but, pray, brother, where does your father keep such a long bamboo?' 'Why, you stupid,' was the answer, 'in your father's stable, to be sure.'"

Alumnae Associations.

The Wesleyan alumnae is the oldest organization of the kind in the world, and recently Mrs. Emma Kunz was made the president of it. The alumnae organizations take most active interest in the colleges and schools from which they have been graduated. At the Smith commencement the alumnae march almost outranked the ivy procession in importance.

Wedding Ring Etiquette.

"What is the etiquette of the wedding ring?" they asked the little grass widow. "Do you wear the rings given you by all your husbands, or that of the last one only? I see you don't wear any?"

"You wear the ring of the husband who pays you alimony," said she. "That's why I am ringless."

Hero of a Lost Cause.

The Polish Jews recall with pride the memory of the great Jewish colonel, Berek Joselovitch on the occasion of the completion of the first centenary of his death. He led the Jewish regiment in the wars for Polish independence, and at a later stage of his military career he served in the French army. He was also the founder of the first lodge of Free Masons in Poland. Berek Joselovitch died a heroic death in a battle with the Austrians, and his name is held in great esteem among the Poles.—Jewish Chronicle.
